GEM FOLKS PLANNING "BIG DAY" FOR DISTRICT VISITORS ON JULY 31

Annual Stampede Date Drawing
Near: Final Preparations
Rounded Out For Full Program of Events

Next Wednesday, July 31st, will truly be one of the biggest days in history for citizens of the Gem district, sixteen miles north-west of Bassano, when their annual Stampede and Celebration is slated to be held. The Stampede, held every year in the latter part of July or the early part of August, has built itself up, until at the present time it has a reputation second to none in the southern part of the province. Under the careful and experienced management of Walter Peake, and with Len Standen and J. P. Royer acting in advisory capacities, it is expected that this year's stampede will surpass all others both for excitement and real entertainment.

Handsome cash prizes are being offered to contestants in stampede and racing events. Full information concerning entries, prizes, etc., may be secured from posters circulated throughout the district last week, or by writing to Len Standen, secretary-treasurer of the committee in charge of the day's activity.

News From Alberta Towns...
As Reported in Exchange
Weeklies

A large number of the progressive citizens of Okotoks took part in a cemetery Bee during the latter part of last month, and greatly improved the appearance of that town's Union Cemetery. The town of Gleichen has ten of its young men enlisted with the Royal Canadian Air Force, and two enlisted with the Royal Air Force.

The annual Stampede at Vegreville had to be postponed for four days due to heavy rainfall in the district. Raymond doubled its quota for the sale of War Stamps at the "Stamp Out Hitler" show on July 15th. The Bennet and White Construction Company is rushing work on the MacLeod Airport, set up under the Empire Air Training Scheme. R. M. Burrows of Countess was elected to the Board of Directors of the Bow Valley Feed Association at a recent meeting of the organization held in Brooks. Mr. Burrows fills a vacancy left by G. L. Ferraby, of Countess, who joined the R. C. A. F. as an instructor.

At a sports day held at Battle River, near Peace River, proceeds amounting to $540.00 were realized for war relief. Jean Martin of Vulcan lost part of her finger when her hand caught in an ice cream freezer she was operating last week. Great War Veterans of Strathmore have organized a Veteran's Volunteer Corps, under Staff Sgt. E. H. Erswell from military headquarters, Calgary. Joseph R. Wade, prominent business man of Hanna, passed away on July 11th in the Hanna Hospital. Hail accompanied by heavy wind caused severe damage to crops in the Nanton District last week. Clarschholm district suffered from hail, the worst it has experienced since 1928. It is estimated an area of approximately 100 square miles was devastated. A $15,000 Cold Storage unit is to be installed and operating in Drumheller by September 1st. The Residents of Drumheller have raised $30,000 in aid of Canada's War Efforts.

den, secretary-treasurer of the committee in charge of the day's activity.

Several novelty events are billed on the program this year, and include a speed race, novelty race, and a married couples race. These events will provide entertainment of a different variety to the usual stampede line of sports.

A full program of children's and adults' sports, races, and jumps, will commence at 11 a.m. at the sportsgrounds. These grounds are located between the Gem elevators and the Gem Store and Post Office. Cash prizes will be awarded to the winners of each event.

Refreshment booths will be located on the grounds to care for the hungry appetites of the large crowd expected to be present. Soft drinks and ice cream, tobaccos and candies will also be sold.

To finish off the full afternoon's program from the bucking corral, on the race track, and sports field, a big entertainment is planned for the evening in the Gem Community Hall. This will be in the form of a dance, with a peppy orchestra on hand to supply all the latest dance tunes. Last year the Hall was packed to capacity for this dance, and everyone reported a most enjoyable time. This year's dance will prove even more enjoyable.

It is understood that the Brooks Community Band will be on hand throughout the afternoon to play martial airs, adding considerably to the enjoyment of the day.

Everyone in the district is urged to keep the date of the Gem Stampede in mind, and be sure to be on hand for there's "going to be a whale of a time."

RED CROSS NOTES

A quantity of fruit sealers have been donated to this local Branch. Any one desiring to put up fruit or jam for the Junior Red Cross Hospital, Calgary, will be supplied with empty sealers for this purpose on request to the Sec-Treas., Bassano Red Cross Society.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

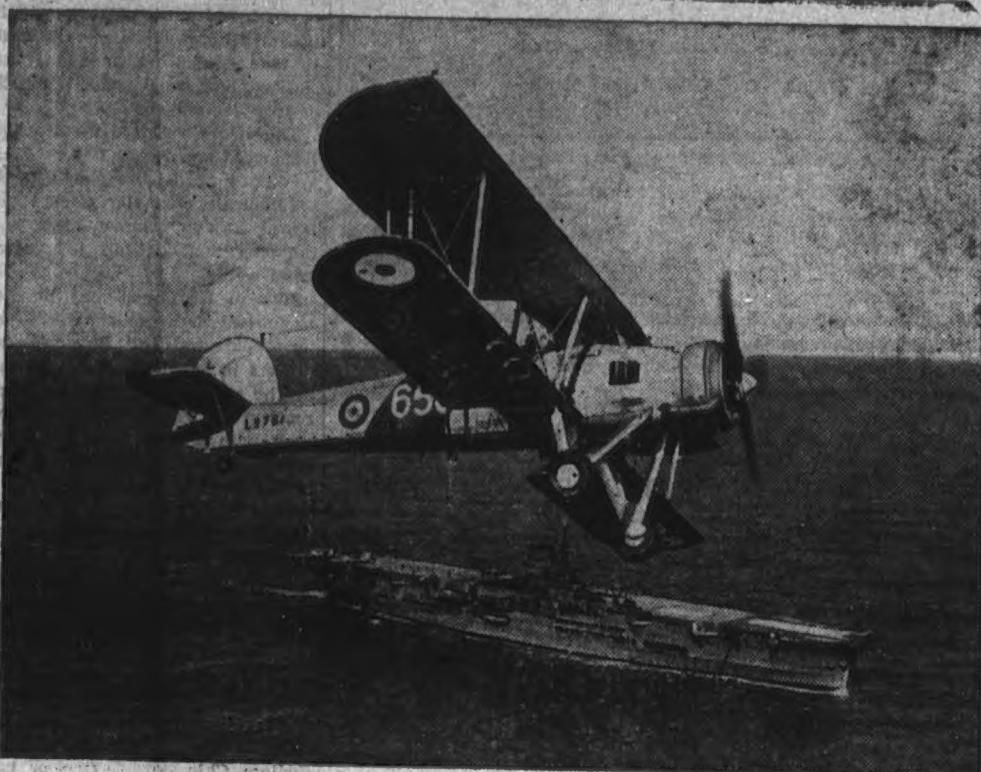

The following circular letter was received from divisional headquarters in Calgary on Wednesday of this week.

Our first Circular under the above heading met with a very generous response from our Branches, and we are pleased to advise all concerned that we have sufficient eggs donated for cooking purposes that will be used by the Matron up to the end of the year.

May we again point out that if any members of our Branches would like to donate canned vegetables, canned fruit, or canned meat, these would be very acceptable, particularly canned fruit.

Please note that we do not wish any rhubarb as our nursery children cannot have any, and we have enough on hand to meet our needs together with a fresh supply in our own Hospital garden. We will, however, be very pleased to have jam because our children like this and we use very large quantities throughout the year, in fact, both canned fruit and jam are always in demand.

May we hope that the Secretaries of our local Branches will make this known to their members so that we may have the full support of all those interested in the

COLD STORAGE LOCKER PLANT OPER- ATING IN CLUNY

D. H. Jacques, special representative of the Western Canada Refrigeration Ltd., announced today that plans are now under way for the opening of a cold storage chill room at Cluny to operate in conjunction with the Company's $25,000 plant at Strathmore.

It was also announced at the same time that a preliminary survey indicated that a complete service plant will be started in Bassano in the near future.

Further information regarding this project will be found in an early issue of the Recorder.

work being done by the Red Cross for crippled children.

We take this opportunity of expressing our sincere thanks to all who have contributed to date as the supplies received have been very greatly appreciated.

If the contributions are shipped by freight and marked "Hospital Supplies Freight Free" we might be able to obtain this privilege from the railways. If under 100 pounds and shipped by express, also enter on Bill of Lading "Hospital Supplies" but "Express Collect" and we will endeavour to have the amount refunded.

Five local Girl Guides journeyed to Brooks on Wednesday of this week to join members of the Brooks Guide Troop, who are going to camp for a few days at Elkwater Lake in the Medicine Hat District. The girls were Joan Riley, Mildred and Lorna MacLean, Lois Wilson and Mary Walsh.

New teachers engaged by the local school board are Mr. Mowat, of Parkland, to replace Mr. R. L. Arrison, and Miss N. Brown of Edmonton, to replace Mr. A. S. Currie who will teach in Calgary for the coming term.

Mrs. W. S. Playfair and George Scott motored to Lethbridge the first of the week, to meet Miss Florence Playfair, who returned from a short holiday spent at Vancouver.

Now Is the Time to Join the Militia

(NOTE—The following article, written by Richard J. Needham of the Calgary Herald will help enlighten local readers, who have been hearing about the formation of a militia unit in Bassano, if possible, in the near future.)

Many Canadians are wondering what they can do about the war. They are paying taxes, but that does not seem to be enough. They could try to join the active service forces, of course, but they probably have domestic and other responsibilities which delay their action in this regard. What can they do? They can join the militia.

FOR HOME DEFENCE ONLY

The Non-Permanent Active Militia has about the same function in war as it has in peace. Its object is to give men military training in their spare time, two or three evenings a week, so that they will be reasonably prepared for active military service if and when the need arises. The man who joins the militia keeps working at his job, keeps living at home. The only difference it makes to him is that he is going down to his local armories to parade and be instructed on regular evenings. He has no uniform, an armband. He may get a uniform from the government later on, but at present there are none available for the militia.

The man who joins the militia

BOARD TRADE MEETINGS CANCELLED FOR SUMMER MONTHS

Regular meetings of the Bassano Board of Trade have been cancelled for the months of July and August, according to James Johnston, president of the organization. In past years, the meeting dates have been set aside during these two months to allow members to enjoy the holidays during the hot weather. This year the same practice will be carried out. The next regular meeting will be held during the early part of September. All members will be given due notice of the date.

is under no obligation to serve overseas. He joins only for home defence. He may volunteer to go overseas or the opportunity to go overseas may be placed before him. But he is under no obligation to go.

It does not cost anything to join the militia. Nothing has to be purchased. He will lose a little time in the evenings, but that is all. The only thing taken from him is time—about four or five hours a week. And two full weeks for camp at Sarcee in September.

The great advantage of militia training is that it enables a man to prepare himself for anything that may come. By joining the militia, he does not change his life and his position as a civilian. But he makes an effective move toward the defence of his country.

The man who joins the militia gets at least a partial preparation for army life, and makes his transition (should it come) from civilian to army life a fairly simple matter. This transition might come in three ways. Firstly, he might decide to volunteer for active service overseas. In that case, he would stand a good chance of acceptance, and more rapid advancement in the active service unit he then joins. Secondly, his militia unit might be called out for active service in the defence of Canada. In that case, he would stick to his unit, but become a full-time, instead of a spare-time soldier. Thirdly, he might await his call under the principle of universal service recently adopted by the Canadian government. In that case, he would find the going a lot easier, whether he stayed in the same unit or was transferred to another.

The militia units are following one of the major principles of organization in this war. They are trying to place men in the positions where their training and ability will be of the greatest value. Men with special training will be advised in what way that training will be most useful to the defence of Canada. Beyond this, of course, there is the great advantage of military training in national spirit and morale. Men who are turning out two or three evenings to train for Canada's defence are building up a strong democratic foundation for this country, both during the war and after. They are accepting the responsibilities, as well as the privileges of being a Canadian.

ALBERTA RED CROSS volunteer workers are maintaining their vigorous stride in war work. Since February 1st their contributions to date of July 10th have enabled Divisional Headquarters to ship 1,396 cases of surgical, soldier, and refugee supplies Overseas.

Included in this grand total were 77 cartons containing 2,614 blankets, 173 cases containing 183,306 surgical dressings, 516 cases containing 153,705 articles of soldier supplies, and 28 cases carrying 9,720 articles for refugee relief.

Farm Storage Important

WITH PRESENT Prospects for a good crop in the Prairie Provinces this fall, attention of farmers is being directed to a critical situation which is to be faced when harvest time arrives. We quote the following from a letter received from the Alberta Wheat Pool:—

"It is feared that many Alberta farmers do not fully realize the seriousness of the congestion now existing in grain storage. It is a certainty that before harvest proceeds very far this coming autumn what elevator space is left will be completely plugged. Every farmer should make plans to provide all the farm storage he possibly can.

"The terminal elevators on both Atlantic and Pacific seaboard, as well as terminals on the Great Lakes and also in the interior, are pretty well loaded with wheat and other grains at the present time. The surplus grain is backed up in country elevators, which is an unprecedented state of affairs.

Whatever the federal government may do will not relieve the storage congestion. The great bulk of the grain that will be threshed this fall will have to be retained on farms. In order to prevent damage and loss every effort should be made to provide as much safe farm storage as possible.

"It is apparent that it may be impossible to market grain in poor condition, and this is a phase that should not be neglected.

"It won't be long now before harvest is here and the least possible delay is desirable in developing farm storage plans."

Plans For Registration Of All Canadians

PLANS FOR THE registration of all Canadians having reached the age of 16 years were made known by Hon. James G. Gardiner, Minister of National War Services, in the House of Commons. Necessary organization has been created. Registration dates have been set to commence August 19 and end August 21st.

Members of Parliament have nominated registrars and deputy registrars in their constituencies, and they in turn will appoint deputy registrars in all polling subdivisions.

All persons are required to attend registration booths on the given dates, to answer questions (18 for men, 19 for women) put to them by the deputy registrars. Answers will be written on registration cards. In cases where a person is ill or incapacitated the deputy registrar may send an assistant to complete the registration at that person's home.

If a person fails to register, he or she will be punished by a fine of $200 or imprisonment for three months or both, with an additional penalty of $10 a day for each day elapsing between the close of registration and the person's registration or trial.

A fine of $100 is provided for refusal to answer any registration question; a fine of $200 or three months' imprisonment or both for giving misleading answers; and a fine of $200 and imprisonment for any person advising any citizen to refuse or omit to comply with the regulations or impeding any officer in carrying out the regulations.

All persons will be given registration certificates, which they will have to carry with them at all times. Penalties are provided by the refusal or failure to produce certificates on demand. Other penalties are provided by the Registration Act for the protection of both the State and the people.

In the words of Hon. James G. Gardiner, registration of all the people of Canada will serve two purposes, "the first one being to get a complete picture of the conditions existing with respect to man-power and woman-power in Canada today, with regard to where they are, their background and their condition of health. All information of what kind would be required, but to all departments of Government—old age pensions, health, and so on. This information can be used for different purposes in connection with the care of our population during a period of war, and perhaps afterwards.

"The other purpose is the one which has been outlined, namely that of obtaining registration of those who are available for training in Canada immediately and throughout the war period."

Indications are that voluntary organizations will be set up in each constituency, in addition to officials appointed by the government, to help carry out the task of registration.

Registrars and Members of Parliament have been deluged with offers of voluntary aid.

E.I.D. NOTES

Methods For Eradication Of Common Weeds

There are on display in the Brooks Hardware window, two noxious weeds, which are not new in the district, but to date have not infested many farms, and it should behoove all farmers to take to take special notice, and if an odd weed or small patch is found, destroy it immediately.

The two weeds are the Russian Knapweed and Hoary Cress. Both are hardy perennials, and difficult to eradicate once the patches get large. Our common crops and cropping methods fail to control these weeds.

Russian Knapweed may be distinguished from other weeds by its characteristic lilac-coloured flowers in small round heads; and by the tough dark-brown or black roots. The young stems are covered with a long soft gray nap, which remains on the lower part of the stem. The roots system is similar to that of the Canada Thistle. The plant propagates by seeds and roots.

Single plants or small patches should be dug out and burned. The place should be marked and watched, as small segments of the root missed in the first digging will develop into new plants. Satisfactory treatments have been obtained with chemicals, such as Sodium Chlorate. One or two treatments of sodium chlorate is the quickest method known to destroy this weed.

Hoary Cress propagates by both seeds and underground root stocks. The plant grows to a height of from one to two feet. The flowers are small greenish-white, and grow in tufts at the end of the branches. This gives the plant a white top appearance.

If a single plant or a small patch is located, the weed should be dug up and burned. Or, two strong solutions of sodium chlorate applied, about fourteen days apart. In all cases the sodium chlorate may be applied either in a solution of water or dry as a powder. Full particulars may be obtained from your local Agriculturalist, M. L. Freng, at the E. I. D. Office, or from the local weed inspector.

WHEAT EXPERIMENT

Experiments of crossing hard and soft wheats were witnessed by large group elevator agents again in a recent field day at the University of Alberta. It was explained the object of the experiment was to secure a wheat that was as early as the hard variety and with the baking quality of the soft wheat. If the cross is successful, it might result in a new crop for the Northern section of the Province.

FISH TO FRY

More than 90,000,000 fish, fingerling, fry and eggs, have been placed in Alberta lakes and streams since the beginning of 1939, it was announced by Hon. D. B. Mullen, Minister of Agriculture, under whose department the fish and game branch carried out the task. "At Lesser Slave Lake, the department operates one of the largest fish hatcheries on the continent," said Mr. Mullen. An aerated tank truck is used in transporting the fish. Most modern obtainable, it has travelled 1,000 miles since its purchase in 1939.

STAGE COACH

Shades of an early West and Dearborn, Michigan, will be disturbed by a request from an official at Jasper Park for an old-time three seated democrat or stagecoach. If and when found, the vehicle will be put into service carrying passengers between Medicine and Maligne Lakes. Edmonton officials, to whom the request was addressed, are canvassing possibilities in this section.

HUTTERITE COLONY

Approached by the leaders of the Hutterite colony in Southern Alberta with a proposal to bring members of the sect from England, provincial authorities told the delegation the matter would have to be referred to the Dominion Government. The proposal is said to involve the movement of more than 100 women and children. Hutterites, of whom there are some 4,000 in Alberta, are absolved from military service. Originating in Germany members of the sect first settled in this Province about 30 years ago.

GRASSHOPPER ARMY

Feared invasion of grasshoppers beyond the south-east corner of Alberta has not materialized, according to O. S. Longman, Provincial Field Crops Commissioner. The expected threat was halted by favorable weather. In an effort to combat the pests the Provincial Department of Agriculture has sent out 200 car loads of poisoned bait to the infested areas in South-eastern Alberta.

EVOLUTION BOTH BE TRUE?

By Dr. T. T. Shields, (Toronto)

What is Evolution? I shall not take time to try to discuss it. I do not pretend to know much about it. Someone smiles and says, "I am glad to hear you admit it." But I do not admit that I know less than you, my friend. What is there to know about it? Men who are not scientists in the technical sense of the term, can weigh what the scientists have to say, and determine whether it be reasonable or otherwise. The question is raised whether one can believe the Bible and acknowledge its authority, and at the same time accept the evolutionary hypothesis as true. Some people are jealous of their reputation. There is a difference between reputation and character. It makes little difference if you lose your reputation so long as you keep your character. It makes no difference if you lose your reputation as possessing knowledge if only you keep your knowledge. Some people are afraid to say, "I believe the Bible", for fear someone will think they are "unlearned and ignorant". It is a good thing to get to the place where you do not care what people think. If anyone finds satisfaction in calling me "unlearned and ignorant", it will not make me any more ignorant than I am — nor will it make him any more learned than he is.

What is Evolution? Once having quoted Spencer's famous definition of evolution, a man told me that that was the clearest definition ever given. It would be if ordinary minds could understand it! It may be said that atheistic evolution denies the existence of God, and postulates the eternity of matter in some form. Theistic evolution recognized that a long, long time ago God had something to do with bringing this and other worlds into existence. There was a primordial germ of some sort. I do not know what it was: I was not there; but wrapped up in it were all the potentialities of things as they are now. By famous resident within itself, it developed until the present beautifully ordered universe came to be.

Someone says, "To me, that would be as great a miracle as direct creation, to think that God could wrap this whole universe in that primordial germ, and fling it into space to work out its own salvation" — with fear and trembling! It would be, but the Bible does not say that God did anything of the kind. Some assume the Genesis story of creation to be an allegory, legend, myth. They will refer us to Pilgrim's Progress and Aesop's Fables presently and tell us that though these things are probably not scientifically and historically true, they contain valuable teaching and the purpose of the Bible is to convey a religious message. When a man makes a very eloquent address on some subject, what if he be wrong in his history, knows nothing about science; and yet assumes to be informed in both; what if in such case he, or another in his behalf, should contend that though the substance of his address was contrary to fact, it should be highly esteemed for its content of moral truth? Could such a contention be sustained to the extent of giving any moral authority to his speech? surely his words could have no authority with those who were able to discern his errors.

How men of logical minds can ask us to submit to a Book that is only practically true, I cannot understand. Any cosmogony which precludes the theory or divine interposition, would make it useless to pray. God would be far off. It would represent the machine as going on so that nothing could stop it. It is no wonder some churches have no prayer meetings. What is the use of asking God to look after you if you are only a cog in the wheel, a piece of a machine?

I published a book during the war, and had something to say about the philosophy of evolution as exemplified in the German attitude in education, and in the war generally. I had a friend who had a very keen mind in many respects. Before the final manuscript went to the printer I asked him to read it. He said, "You take strong ground." At what point? "Where you say that the doctrine of Evolution were established, so far as you are concerned you would have it abandon the Bible. What if Evolution should be proved—What then?" I said, "It cannot be proved." How do you know? "Because it is so manifestly contrary to the Bible. I stand by my position." "How do you know that Evolution can never be proved?" he said. "Because it is contrary to the Bible." How does that establish it? "Because the Bible is the word of God, and anything contrary to the word of God cannot be true. I am therefore positive that evolution can never be demonstrated to be true."

I give you two things to think about, without going to the laboratory at all. Until the living can be produced from non-living until the principle of spontaneous generation can be established in at least one single instance as a possibility Evolution, as a universal principle, can be nothing but an hypothesis. Furthermore, until we have one example of the transmutation of species, the evolving of one species into another, between man and the monkey! That does not appear to be half as hard to find as some missing links. The links that are missing are the links between all the species. There is not a man of science in the world who would even dare to say that one species was ever evolved into another. The seed of each is in itself, and they bring forth "after their kind" this day, as Moses said.

The crowning disproof of the theory of Evolution is the coming of Jesus Christ into the world. If he be but the Son of man, if that be true, then nearly two thousand years ago the Supreme Man appeared. He has never been equalled never remotely approximated. He stands apart, having in all things the preeminence. Therefore whence came He? From whom, from what, came that matchless Personality who dominated the thought of the world—whence did he come? If once you assume Him to be what He said he was, that He actually came into human life, intruded if you like upon the course of human history, what then? We read just now the divine challenge to Job when he was asked by the Lord "Canst thou send lightnings, that they may go, and say unto thee, Here we are?" But He who called Himself the Son of God said, "Here I am." Whence came He?

So could we speak of the world record of miracles, of the atonement, of the resurrection of Christ. They are all contrary to the principle of Evolution. I say, logically, one cannot believe in the divine inspiration and supreme authority if the Bible as being the infallible word of the living God and at the same time believe in Evolution. Do not deceive yourself. If you try to flirt with these things and endeavour to retain your reputation as being quite abreast of the times, by yielding a mental assent to evolution, you will be driven or at least to discount your Bible: you cannot hold both, even as you cannot serve two masters.

When it is realized that acceptance of these anti-Scripture views come of an unilluminated mind, you will not be surprised at anything that follows. On the one hand, if you accept the first verse of Genesis, and once assume God to be, His creation of the world by almighty fiat and His successive interpositions down through the ages are to be expected. He is God; this is His world; and He will not allow Himself to be driven out of it. There is a sense in which the coming of His Son might reasonably have been expected. Is it not inconceivable that God would create this world and people it with human intelligences such as we now know have obtained through the historic centuries as His human children, and fail to give them an authoritative and unmistakable communication so that they might know what He wanted them to do? It is to me the most reasonable thing in the world that He should have spoken. If we had not a Bible, the logical mind ought to go looking for one. There must be some communication from heaven. If there be a God, He will not be silent and leave us to grope in the darkness. If you believe that, you will have no difficulty with the rest of the Book.

On the other hand, relegate God to the unknown and say, "I do not know whether there be a God. I will begin with the created order and find out who made it." I will dream my dreams," you will never find your way to God. Evolution, in the last analysis, is not a science. It ought not to be called a science. Evolution is a philosophy. Science confines itself to the realm of demonstrable fact, that which can be established. But to push the mind back to prehistoric times, and begin reckoning millions and billions of years—well the man who does so is safe enough: nobody can contradict him. But they can disagree with his philosophy.

Assume that attitude toward the Bible, or toward natural phenomena, and play fast and loose with the facts of either, and you will soon find yourself naturally assuming the same attitude toward everything that Book teaches.

Some modernists have said that it is not necessary to accept the doctrine of the virgin birth in order to be a Christian, that one can still retain his place in the church, while refusing to believe in the virgin birth of Christ. I suppose it is conceivable if God had so willed it, that the incarnation could have been effected through two human parents instead of one. But the question is, What has God said? What has the Word of God to say about it? His promise was to the woman, that her Seed should bruise the serpent's head. The Bible says that Jesus Christ was born of a virgin, that He had a human mother, but no human father. You cannot possibly deny that without denying the historic accuracy and authority of Matthew's Gospel, and Luke's Gospel. He must indeed deny the truthfulness of the New Testament in general, for where the virgin birth is not specifically stated, it is everywhere implied and assumed. When people have said that Genesis is not true, it is inevitable that they should say that Matthew is not true. If I pick and choose in one part, I may pick and choose in another.

Not only may the virgin birth be denied, but we are told that we can be Christians without believing in the literal resurrection of Jesus Christ. Again you cannot deny the reality of the physical resurrection of Christ without denying the divine authority and accuracy of Holy Scripture, because the Bible does actually say that Jesus Christ rose from the dead. If Jesus did not rise from the dead, the Gospels are not reliable. If He was not virgin-born neither the New Testament nor the Old is true. If they be taken from us, we cannot be sure whether He ever came at all. I affirm that there is no fact in history more thoroughly attended than the truth of the resurrection. How any man calling himself a Christian minister can say that one can be a Christian while denying the resurrection of Christ passes my understanding, since it is written "If thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised Him from the dead, thou shalt be saved."

CAN THE BIBLE.....

I am glad to see that Sir Thomas Inskip has most strongly objected to that position. Sir Thomas is the Minister of Defence in England and a noted Evangelical. He said that to deny the resurrection of Christ is to deny Christianity. Of course it is, absolutely. If a man deny these cardinal principles, he cannot hold fast the profession of the faith without wavering.

The view under consideration would reduce the Christian religion to a matter of mere opinion. Whoever entertains certain opinions may be saved! If it is to be a matter of faith and not of opinion, the question is, Faith in whom, and faith in what? We believe that the Bible is certified by the person of Christ Who is revealed all through its pages to be the very Word of God.

I was interested in looking up the record of the Coronation to find the words of the Archbishop of Canterbury. I was ill at the time, but I awakened early enough to hear every word. I never attended a more spiritual service in my life. I never felt a stronger evangelistic appeal than in the Coronation, was so gloriously magnified. I confess, because I love the Book, I was inevitably moved when I heard by radio the Archbishop of Canterbury say to His Majesty the King:

"Our gracious King; we present you with the Book, the most valuable thing that this world affords. Here is wisdom; this is the royal Law; these are the lively oracles of God."

How any minister of that Church, whose highest officer presented the Bible to the King who was sworn to maintain the Protestant religion on by law established, having said to the King, "Our gracious King; we present you with this Book, the most valuable thing this world affords. Here is wisdom, this is the royal law; these are the lively oracles of God,"—how any minister of that Church could proceed to tear that Book to pieces, I do not understand.

Some of us know the Bible to be true because we know the Lord Jesus Christ. I do. Frankly, if it were possible to assemble all the scholars of the world, if they would pay me enough attention and then if with one voice they were to say to me, "If you believe the Bible to be the word of God, infallible because divinely inspired, and authoritative because so inspired, it follows that you are unlearned and ignorant, and a fool into the bargain," I should simply say, "Thank you, gentlemen, I accept the degree at your hands—and return it to you." The wisdom of God is foolishness with men. I would stand by the Book and the Saviour of Whom it speaks, if I were the only man in the world thus standing, because I know Jesus Christ. He has put His imprimatur on the whole Book—and He has saved me.

Will you abide by the Bible? It is our only hope. May the Lord help us that we may put our trust in Him Who died the Just for the unjust to bring us to God. And, knowing Him He will talk with us as He did to those whom He met in the days of His flesh after His resurrection, when "beginning at Moses and all the prophets, he expounded unto them in all the scriptures the things concerning himself."

ARROWWOOD

The Brethren Young People from Arrowwood and Irricana have just returned home from their annual Camp at the Bow River. Their were around 40 people at the Camp and an enjoyable time was reported by all who attended. The leadership was in the capable hands of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Harmon of Idaho, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Michael, of California and summer pastor of the Irricana Church, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hollinger of California, present pastor of the Arrowwood Church.

The 20th Annual District Meeting of the Brethren Church was held at the Arrowwood Church from July 16 to 19th. There were quite a large number of members present from the two Irricana

In Ottawa

By F. W. Gershaw, M. P.

The Wheat situation is being seriously considered in Ottawa now. The members of the Grain Commission and the Wheat Board are here and very moderate resolutions are coming in from the union of municipalities and other interested organizations. The members are impressing the Government with the desperate situation the farmers are in.

They will be obliged to pay more on account of War taxation. The 10 per cent War Exchange Tax will, it is pointed out, increase prices of machinery and other commodities. The War has taken away the market for Wheat in Germany, France, Italy, Holland, Belgium and the Scandinavian countries. Great Britain has a big reserve and ocean transportation is filled with danger.

Canada has a carry over of 250 million bushels. The coming crop will be around 400 million bushels. The storage capacity is only around 480 million bushels so farm storage or new construction will be necessary. If the big farmers rush their Wheat in there will be no storage for the smaller producer, so some quota system may be necessary. The western members are all for having the Government pay a minimum price at the point of delivery that will meet the cost of production but no decision has yet been reached.

I have recently spent a lot of time interviewing the heads of the various departments of the Air, Land and Sea War services. The many offices are hives of industry. Desks are crowded in touching churches. The meetings were all very fine and of good benefit to all those who attended. The main speaker of the meeting was Rev. D. D. Funderburg, from Elgin, Ill. and he was ably assisted by Mr. Glen Harmon, Mr. Albert Hollinger and Mr. Harold Michael.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mackie and family, Mrs. Jane Beagle and Mrs. Paul Norton returned home on July 20th after spending three weeks visiting relatives and friends in Montana, Washington and B.C.

Born on July 6th to Mr. and Mrs. H. Bloomfield, a daughter at Mason Nursing Home.

Two new rooms are being added to the Arrowwood Consolidated School, the rooms will be all fitted for the Home Economics Class. Mr. A. Ingraham is the carpenter.

Quite a number of the U. F. A. Juniors left on Saturday morning for a ten day camp up the High Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery of Hussar were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifgard on Sunday.

each other. Typewriters are humming, clerks are rushing around, the halls are crowded and every one is in uniform. Special desks and telephones are located on all the elevator landings and appointments are hard to get. At the Passport office, long lines of people are waiting and every available inch of office space is taken up by the officers in dealing with the hundreds of thousands of applications for passports that have been piling in. An effort is being made to pick out those required for sickness or death and to deal with them first.

I witnessed what might be called a War casualty yesterday. One of the oldest Cabinet Ministers left the Chamber for the last time this Session and perhaps, for ever. His large frame was stooped, his face was pale and drawn. His usual smile was absent but he bowed gracefully as he passed the threshold of the bar he House of Commons. His health being broken, anxiety and worry about conditions in his native province bore heavily upon him, causing loss of sleep and physical suffering.

Despite such distractions as immobilizing the French fleet, bottling up the Italians, organizing convoys, and guarding the shores of Britain, the Board of Admiralty found time today to pay a compliment to Canada and announced that the warships being built here for the Royal Navy will bear the names of Canadian wild flowers. The announcement, issued by the Department of Munitions and supply said that the distinctive names chosen, will differentiate these Canadian built ships from those constructed in Britain.

The ships being built for the Royal Canadian Navy will all bear the names of Canadian municipalities.

THREE QUARTERS INCH RAIN THIS WEEK

Rainfall up to Thursday noon of this week totalled .77 inches since the date of last publication. Of this amount, .16 fell on Saturday, .12 on Tuesday, and (up till noon) .49 on Thursday. At time of going to press it is still raining fairly heavy, and there is no indication of a let up.

Rainfall during the month of July has been exceedingly heavy this year, the greatest it has been in many years. The rains came at a critical time when crops were just beginning to suffer from long, hot days throughout the month of June. Rainfall during the month totals approximately four inches.

SWIMMING POOL POPULAR DURING HOT DAYS

Attendance at the local swimming pool is reported to be slightly increased this year over last. Hot days in recent weeks have made the premises a haven for local youngsters, who partake of the facilities offered in Bassano every morning, afternoon and evening.

Enthusiasm towards this summer recreation again seems to be running fairly high this year. One story of enthusiasm goes as follows:—

On Sunday afternoon last, a local citizen, enjoying the cool comfortable surroundings, and bench facilities offered at the pool, suddenly decided that more swimmers should be in the pool at one time. Attempting to remedy the situation, he proceeded to assist all by-standers wearing bathing suits into the water. Everything went well, and the pool began to fill with human "fish", until he met up with a member of the feminine sex of the younger generation.

What actually happened seems to be a mystery. As explained to a member of the Recorder staff, all that could be seen was a writhing form on the brink of the pool, a big splash, and then the form disappeared, clothes and all. Yes, seven feet of water can completely cover a man.

A pair of husky arms, and a strong pair of bracers, however, solved the problem of fishing the victim of the accident out of the pool and back onto dry land. Now Marcel Massey, caretaker at the pool, complains bitterly that the Board of Trade has suffered an injustice, in that the gentleman did not pay his swimming fee.

Then there is another report circulating that about five members of the local hospital staff decided a hike out to the "Little Dam", some two or three miles south-east of Bassano, a swim and the hike back to town, would be fun at about nine o'clock at night. Before the evening was over, they all agreed that the swimming pool was a lot closer to town.

tennis talk

By a Tennis Fan

The welcome showers of the past week put a damper on tennis activities since last report, but as soon as the weather settles we hope to see all racquet wellers turning out regularly.

The Medicine Hat tennis club have extended us an invitation for this coming Sunday. Will all players wishing to make the trip get in touch with the club secretary, Connie McBeth. This also goes for any of our U. S. A. friends who wish to go along. Get out gang and get in some practise before Sunday.

We are sorry to hear that Andy Cathro will be leaving us in the near future, he, having joined up to do his bit towards putting the twin gangsters where they belong. We are going to miss Andy on the courts and in the curling rink. 'Yas'

We haven't seen much of Davie Cathro on the courts so far this year. Understand he has gone in for swimming in a big way—or is it diving. Better change suits next time Davie.

What has become of "Pa" and "Ma", have they deserted the courts entirely. Better come out of your hiding place and help us tramp down the weeds.

Speaking of weeds certain parts of the court will soon be ready for a second cutting, some of them are now in full blossom. The club has purchased a new weapon in the form of a Graswip, and in case you don't know, this is an instrument made use of by ambitious tennis players to keep the grass cut to a level which allows one's eye to meet the out of play balls at umteen yards, thus overcoming much cussin' and wasted energy.

Mrs. Bulmer's holiday has come to an end and she will be missed on the courts as she always injects some much needed pep into the game. We hope to see her back again before the tennis season comes to a close. We are also glad to see Miss Florence Playfair and Miss Phyllis Plumer rejoining the tennis circle. Florence from her fast T C A trip to the Coast and return and Phyllis from all points South of the Border.

HOME TOWN LOYALTY

Remember that no outsider is going to help you build your town. Every time you give business to an outsider that can be as advantageously placed with your home town firms, you are making the community poorer.

It is the local business houses who pay wages to local people, who pay the heaviest taxes, who are called on to subscribe to the various organizations and appeals for help.

We admire the customer who gives the home town an even break. There are many little services and accommodations given that no outsider can or will give. Be loyal to your own community—for one good turn deserves another.

The capitulation of France to the enemy has made necessary a change in disposition of blankets donated to the Canadian Red Cross. Orphaned and wounded soldiers in France the first shipment was fortunately diverted to England where they will be stored until needed. The remainder—about 60,000—will be held in Canada.

Already the Red Cross has loaned a quantity of these to the Government to equip colonist trains carrying evacuee children from Britain to Canadian destinations.

In connection with evacuee children, Nova Scotia and Quebec Divisions of the Red Cross are meeting these arrivals when they have definite information concerning them, assisting in speeding them on to their final destination. It is suggested that persons interested who have such information should communicate with Alberta Red Cross Division Headquarters in Calgary, which will, in turn, notify the Divisions of the two Maritime Provinces.

"The Voice of Red Cross"—a ten minute national broadcast outlining the work of the Society and its war objectives—went on the air on Sunday afternoon, July 13th, at 3:50 for the first time. It will continue at the same time every Sunday indefinitely. Important questions concerning the Society's work will be answered and these should be mailed to Red Cross Division Headquarters, Calgary.
